About the webinar

COVID'19 caught our Higher Education system completely unawares. While our western counterparts had technical and teaching expertise in online learning, we have been forced to adapt in these dire times. COVID has impacted not just this semester, but is likely to impact semesters for years to come.

We should use this as an opportunity to get familiar with the treasures of online Teaching methodologies, and likewise impart it to the teachers of tomorrow, who would most certainly need it.

Join us in our webinar, as we discuss the challenges faced, solutions adopted, and the road ahead.
